What's New In?

This command line program works by scanning the given directory and create an xml feed file called "rss_%date%.xml" for each file in the specified directory. Then the program finds all.xsl files in the directory and creates a channel using the xsl files it found. Note: If you are scanning directories with spaces in the names, like Music/my folder, make sure you enclose the directory path with quotes. Otherwise the feed generator will fail to scan the folder. You can remove any number of.xml files using the -x option. For more information on the program see: Usage: psp_rss_feed_generator [-h|-v] [-x xsl_file] [-b xsl_file] [path] Example: psp_rss_feed_generator -b /home/web/xslt/psp/my_catalog.xsl /home/web/my_catalog/ psp_rss_feed_generator --help psp_rss_feed_generator [-h|-v] [-x xsl_file] [-b xsl_file] [path] -h this help -v report version info -x xsl_file choose.xsl file -b xsl_file choose.xsl file path
